YOUR NATAL CHART / YOUR BIRTHDAY YEAR

Five personal insights

Your mind and your identity speak together

Your Sun and Mercury are only 0°12’ apart in Aries. You bring your whole self to an idea: direct words, quick connections and a need to mean what you say. Revisiting a thought helps you find its clearest expression.

Your Aries Moon needs its own outlet

You feel the spark before you have a finished plan. Movement, a fresh challenge or an honest conversation gives that emotional energy somewhere to go. Your feelings ask for participation, rather than a place on the sidelines.

Venus is part of your first impression

Venus sits just 1°13’ from your Gemini Ascendant. Curiosity and warmth arrive together: the question you ask, the smile you offer and the way you make conversation are part of your natural appeal.

Your fire gathers people together

Sun, Moon and Mercury share Aries in your eleventh house of friends, communities and shared hopes. Your strongest ideas want company. You are at your most engaged when there is a purpose to share and people to bring with you.

Your voice begins a new Jupiter chapter

Natal Jupiter in Leo, in house 3, connects growth with learning, storytelling and everyday conversation. This birthday year brings Jupiter back to that exact birth position: a new chapter for a subject or idea you want to grow.

THE FOUNDATION

Your birth chart

ARIES SUN

ARIES MOON

GEMINI RISING

Aries Sun in house 11

Sophie, your Sun in Aries, at 24 degrees in the eleventh house, gives you a bright, pioneering spirit. You are drawn to begin things and to lead by example, and the eleventh house suggests your energy comes alive in community, shared causes and the circles of people who inspire your hopes for the future. Mercury sits almost exactly with your Sun, also in Aries, so your thinking tends to be quick, direct and honest. Because Mercury is retrograde, you may do your best thinking by turning ideas over before you speak, and what you eventually say can carry real conviction.

Aries Moon in house 11

Your Moon is also in Aries and in the eleventh house, just a couple of degrees from your Sun. Your inner world and your outward purpose pull in the same direction, which can give you a clear sense of who you are and a spirited, instinctive emotional style. You are likely to recharge through action, fresh starts and the company of like-minded friends. Your invitation is to trust that immediate spark and to let your enthusiasm be a gift to others.

Gemini rising

Your Rising sign is Gemini, with Venus in the first house close to your ascendant. This adds curiosity, charm and a lively, conversational presence to the first impression you make. People may meet you as playful, engaging and quick-witted before they discover the fiery depth beneath. You are invited to keep following your questions and your boldest instincts, knowing that your warmth opens doors.

Three questions to come back to

Aries Sun: What do I want to express?

Aries Moon: What would help me feel supported?

Gemini rising: What am I curious enough to explore?

NATAL CHART · YOUR LIFELONG PATTERNS

Your Birth Tarot

The spread that was dealt the moment you were born

Long before tarot cards were painted, astrologers linked the planets and signs to the same symbols the tarot uses. Each planet has its own Major Arcana card, and every 10 degrees of the zodiac has its own numbered card. So your birth chart already holds a tarot spread, laid out by the sky at the moment you arrived.

There's no shuffling and no chance here. These cards were drawn directly from where the planets stood when you were born, so they will never change. This is your lifelong spread.

How your cards were chosen:

- For each planet, the first card is the planet's own Major Arcana card: the energy itself.
- The second card comes from the exact degree the planet occupied, showing how that energy plays out in you.
- Your Rising sign gives a Major Arcana card and a court card: the person you show the world.
- The final pair comes from the balance of fire, earth, air and water in your chart: an Ace for your strongest element, and a Page for the element you're here to grow into.

NATAL CHART · YOUR LIFELONG PATTERNS

Your Birth Tarot

1. Sun: Your Core Self

Aries · 24°31′ · House 11

Sophie, your core self is shaped by The Sun and the Four of Wands, a pairing that radiates warmth, openness and joyful momentum. The Sun brings a natural clarity and vitality, a sense of being most yourself when you are honest and visible. The Four of Wands adds the spirit of celebration, of building something steady and then inviting others to enjoy it. Together, they suggest that your brightness thrives when it is shared. Your Aries Sun in the eleventh house, joined closely by Mercury and the Moon, echoes this beautifully, pointing towards communities and friendships as places where your energy can flourish and inspire.

2. Moon: Your Emotional World

Aries · 26°40′ · House 11

Sophie, your emotional world is shaped by The High Priestess and the Four of Wands, a pairing of quiet depth and open celebration. The High Priestess gives you a rich inner life, with intuition that listens beneath the surface and a gift for knowing before you can explain. The Four of Wands, which appears again here for the second of its three appearances in your spread, brings a warm longing for belonging, joy and shared milestones. Together they invite you to trust your private wisdom, then bring it into the circle of people who make your heart feel at home. There is much to look forward to in that balance.

3. Mercury: Your Mind & Voice

Aries · 24°19′ · House 11

Sophie, your mind and voice are shaped by The Magician and the Four of Wands, a pairing that speaks of ideas made real and then shared. The Magician gives you resourcefulness, the knack of turning thought into action with focus and skill. The Four of Wands appears again here, its third appearance in this spread, adding a sense of celebration, belonging and a welcoming foundation for your words. With Mercury in bold, direct Aries, closely joined with your Sun and Moon in your eleventh house of community and shared hopes, your words carry your whole self, and you speak best among kindred spirits. Let your ideas be your invitation.

NATAL CHART · YOUR LIFELONG PATTERNS

Your Birth Tarot

4. Venus: Love, Pleasure & What You Value

Gemini · 2°19′ · House 1

Sophie, your Venus in Gemini sits in the first house, so the way you love and what you value are woven into how you meet the world: curious, quick-witted and engaging. The Empress and the Eight of Swords meet here as a graceful tension. The Empress brings sensual abundance, nurture and a deep appreciation of beauty, while the Eight of Swords asks you to notice where old mental patterns or self-imposed limits might loosen their hold. Together they invite you to let your generous, affectionate nature lead, trusting that you are freer than your thoughts sometimes suggest. Pleasure and connection flourish as you give yourself permission to choose openly.

5. Mars: Your Drive & Courage

Cancer · 6°26′ · House 2

Sophie, your drive and courage are shaped by two cards: The Tower and the Two of Cups. With Mars in Cancer in the second house, you act most boldly when something you value is at stake, and your determination is protective, intuitive and deeply felt. The Tower brings the courage to let go of what no longer holds firm and to rebuild on truer ground. The Two of Cups softens that strength with connection, honesty and mutual respect. Together they invite you to move decisively while keeping your heart open, and to trust that your bravest choices can also be your most nourishing.

6. Jupiter: Your Gifts & Good Fortune

Leo · 3°55′ · House 3

Sophie, your Jupiter in Leo in the third house meets two cards: Wheel of Fortune and Five of Wands. Together they describe a gift for riding change with confidence while holding your own in lively company. The Wheel brings a natural sense of timing and an openness to the turning of chances, while the Five of Wands adds spirited energy, healthy competition and a talent for finding your voice among many. Your good fortune grows through conversation, curiosity and generous self-expression. Let your ideas move freely, welcome the friendly challenge, and trust that the next turn of the wheel can carry fresh opportunities your way.

NATAL CHART · YOUR LIFELONG PATTERNS

Your Birth Tarot

7. Saturn: Your Life Lessons

Aquarius · 6°00′ · House 9

Sophie, your life lessons arrive through The World and the Five of Swords, with Saturn in Aquarius in the ninth house shaping how you meet them. The World speaks of completion, wholeness and the satisfaction of seeing a long effort come together. The Five of Swords asks you to choose your battles, release arguments that cost more than they give, and know when a win is not worth having. Together they suggest that true mastery comes through perspective, integrity and open-minded learning. You grow when you let go of needing to be right. The wider horizon is yours to claim.

8. Rising Sign: How You Meet the World

Gemini · 3°32′

Sophie, you meet the world with the quick, curious spirit of a Gemini Ascendant, and your two birth cards, The Lovers and Knight of Swords, show how that curiosity takes shape. The Lovers brings a gift for connection, values-led choices and the pull toward what feels true. The Knight of Swords adds momentum, a sharp mind and the courage to say what you think. Venus sits close to your Ascendant in Gemini, so your charm and wit are often the first thing people notice. Together, these energies invite you to pair swift ideas with heartfelt discernment, and to move forward with clarity and grace.

9. Elements: Your Gift & Your Growth Edge

Fire 6 · Earth 0 · Air 4 · Water 1 / 11 points · Sun–Saturn + rising; Sun/Moon double; outer planets excluded

Sophie, your elements are led by a vivid Fire score of 6, and the Ace of Wands captures that spark: you carry a natural gift for beginning things, igniting ideas and inspiring others with your enthusiasm. Your growth edge lies in Earth, which scores 0. This is not a missing ability, only an open invitation, and the Page of Pentacles models it beautifully. This card encourages patient practice, curiosity and steady, hands-on steps. When you pair your bold initiative with that grounded persistence, your sparks have room to become something lasting and rewarding.

SOLAR RETURN · YOUR BIRTHDAY-TO-BIRTHDAY YEAR

Your Year Ahead Tarot

1. Sun: The Heart of Your Year

Aries · 24°31′ · House 5

Sophie, your birthday year opens with The Sun and the Four of Wands, a pairing that glows with warmth and welcome. The Sun speaks of vitality, openness and the simple joy of being seen as you are, while the Four of Wands adds celebration, community and a place to feel at home. Together they suggest a year when your natural Aries spark shines most brightly when it is shared, turning milestones and gatherings into real sources of belonging. Let your enthusiasm lead, and trust that your warmth can draw people together. This week, choose one occasion worth celebrating and invite a few people to share it with you.

2. Moon: Your Emotional Tides

Pisces · 14°29′ · House 4

Sophie, your Moon in Pisces in the fourth house sets a tender, intuitive tone for the year, and The High Priestess and the Nine of Cups meet beautifully here. The High Priestess invites you to trust the quiet knowing that rises when you pause and listen inwardly. The Nine of Cups adds a glow of contentment, suggesting that honouring your feelings can lead to genuine emotional satisfaction. Together, they point to a year in which stillness at home becomes a wellspring of joy. Set aside a few minutes each evening to sit quietly with a warm drink and notice what your intuition is telling you.

3. Mercury: Conversations & Decisions

Pisces · 29°03′ · House 4

Sophie, The Magician and the Ten of Cups arrive together in your Conversations and Decisions position, pairing skilled intention with heartfelt belonging. Your Mercury sits at the very end of Pisces in the fourth house, so your best thinking this year may come from intuition and from the sense of home you carry within. The Magician invites you to speak with clarity and use the tools already in your hands, while the Ten of Cups asks that your choices serve lasting contentment rather than quick wins. Before an important decision, write down what you want to say and what would feel like home, then speak from that.

SOLAR RETURN · YOUR BIRTHDAY-TO-BIRTHDAY YEAR

Your Year Ahead Tarot

4. Venus: Love, Pleasure & Money

Taurus · 18°10′ · House 6

Sophie, this year's pairing of The Empress and the Six of Pentacles gathers around Venus in Taurus, a sign Venus rules, so your sense of pleasure and value feels at home. The Empress invites you to savour beauty, comfort and creative abundance, while the Six of Pentacles asks you to keep giving and receiving in fair balance. Together they suggest that what you nurture generously can return in kind. Venus sits in your sixth house, so daily rituals may become the place where warmth and worth take root. Choose one small, regular act of generosity or self-care, and make it a steady part of your week.

5. Mars: Where to Take Action

Aries · 3°37′ · House 5

Sophie, with Mars in Aries in your fifth house, your birthday year pairs The Tower with the Two of Wands. The Tower brings a sudden clearing of whatever has outgrown its place, and that makes room for the Two of Wands, where you hold the world in your hands and choose your direction. Together they suggest that bold action comes most naturally when you release an old plan first, then step towards a wider horizon with confidence. Neptune, within a degree of your Mars, lends that brave start imagination and vision. This week, write down one old plan to release and one new venture to begin.

6. Jupiter: Where Luck Opens Up

Cancer · 16°55′ · House 8

Sophie, this year's luck gathers around Jupiter in Cancer in your eighth house, and it brings Wheel of Fortune and Three of Cups into conversation. The Wheel suggests that timing is turning in your favour, while the Three of Cups shows that goodwill grows when it is shared. Together they hint that openings may arrive through trust, collaboration and generous company, especially where depth and honest exchange are welcome. Cancer's nurturing water lends warmth to every opportunity. Say yes to one invitation that feels genuinely nourishing, and let yourself celebrate it fully.

SOLAR RETURN · YOUR BIRTHDAY-TO-BIRTHDAY YEAR

Your Year Ahead Tarot

7. Saturn: This Year's Test & Reward

Aries · 7°12′ · House 5

Sophie, this year's test and reward arrives through The World and the Two of Wands, and the Two of Wands appears again in this spread, having already shown itself earlier. Saturn in fiery Aries, in your fifth house of creativity, joy and self-expression, asks you to bring discipline to what you love. The World suggests a satisfying sense of completion, while the Two of Wands invites you to choose your next horizon with intention. Together they hint that finishing one creative chapter well can launch the next. Choose one project you care about, and set a date this month to complete its first milestone.

8. Rising Sign: The Doorway to Your Year

Sagittarius · 26°57′

Sophie, your year opens through a Sagittarius Ascendant, a fiery, mutable doorway that favours movement, curiosity and open horizons. Here Temperance meets the Knight of Wands: one card asks for balance, patience and a blend of different ingredients, while the other brings spark, momentum and a readiness to chase what excites you. Together they suggest that enthusiasm flourishes when it is paced with care, so your bold starts can become something lasting and harmonious. Each new adventure may feel richer when you let it find its natural rhythm. This week, choose one exciting idea and plan a small, steady first step towards it.

9. Elements: The Year's Energy & What to Cultivate

Fire 6 · Earth 1 · Air 0 · Water 4 / 11 points · Sun–Saturn + rising; Sun/Moon double; outer planets excluded

Sophie, this birthday year opens with the Ace of Wands and the Page of Swords, a pairing that suits your fiery nature, with Fire the strongest element in your chart. The Ace brings a bright spark of enthusiasm and fresh creative drive, while the Page of Swords adds curiosity, questions and a willingness to learn. Together they suggest that inspiration flourishes when it meets clear thinking. Air is quiet in your chart, which simply invites you to cultivate it more deliberately, through conversation, reading and sharing ideas. Let your enthusiasm lead, and let thoughtful inquiry shape it into something lasting. This week, write down one new idea worth exploring.

Keep this spread somewhere you'll see it, and return to it on your birthday next year to see how the cards played out.

A SYMBOLIC MAP OF FAMILIARITY AND GROWTH

Your North & South Nodes

NORTH NODE

23°20′ Capricorn R | House 8

SOUTH NODE

23°20′ Cancer R | House 2

How astrologers read the nodes

Sophie, the lunar nodes mark an axis in your chart that points towards growth. Rather than describing who you already are, they suggest where you might stretch, and which familiar patterns can be held a little more lightly. Your nodal axis runs between Capricorn and Cancer, and between the eighth and second houses.

North Node in Capricorn: a direction to explore

Your North Node sits in Capricorn at around 23 degrees, in the eighth house. This is an invitation to build something steady and lasting, and to take responsibility for your own long-term direction. The eighth house is the realm of depth, shared resources, trust and transformation. Here it suggests that growth may come from patience, commitment and a willingness to go beneath the surface, rather than staying with what is quick or easily visible. Uranus and Neptune also sit in Capricorn in this house, so your North Node's themes of structure and depth are echoed by a taste for originality and imagination.

South Node in Cancer: familiar strengths

Your South Node falls in Cancer, in the second house. It points to a comfortable, instinctive home base: nurturing, protecting and finding security in what feels familiar. Mars also sits in Cancer in this house, so these qualities carry real energy and drive. They are genuine strengths, though the nodes suggest you needn't lean on them alone.

Bring both ends together

The art of integration lies in blending the two. Your Sun, Moon and Mercury in Aries sit closely square to this axis, so your own bold, direct voice may help bridge the two. You might draw on your caring instincts to support the disciplined, deeper commitments Capricorn asks of you, letting warmth and structure work together. As you do, you may find that security grows from the steady foundations you build and the depth you are willing to explore. That is a beautiful path to walk, Sophie, and it is yours to shape.

Questions for your own experience

Which familiar strength would I like to keep?

What new capacity could I practise gently?

The nodes in your wider reading

Read the nodes alongside the whole chart

Sophie, your natal North Node sits in Capricorn in the eighth house, with the South Node opposite it in Cancer in the second. Cancer and the second house describe what feels familiar and sustaining. Capricorn and the eighth invite you toward depth, shared resources and the quiet strength that comes from commitment. Begin by noticing where you reach for comfort by habit, then asking what a more structured, courageous version of that choice might look like.

Familiar strengths and fresh possibilities

Because the North Node is in Capricorn, it is ruled by Saturn, which in your chart is in Aquarius in the ninth house. Your growth edge is shaped by learning, perspective and a long view. Try choosing one subject, philosophy or skill that stretches your mind, and give it a small, steady slice of time each week. Capricorn rewards consistency over intensity, and a modest ritual kept faithfully may do more than any grand burst of effort.

Your birthday-year nodes: a different layer

Your South Node in Cancer is ruled by the Moon, which sits in Aries in the eleventh house beside your Sun and Mercury. This tight cluster squares your nodal axis, so your Aries fire is meant to serve your path, not compete with it. It speaks of a spirited, direct nature with a natural place among groups and shared hopes. A practice here is to speak your needs plainly and early, then let your community meet you. Consider writing down a hope for the year, sharing it with someone you trust, and inviting their honest reflection.

A way to work with the symbolism

The eighth house is the realm of transformation, intimacy and what we hold in common, and your North Node there is joined by Uranus and Neptune in Capricorn. You might practise releasing one thing that has run its course, whether a habit, a clutter-filled drawer or an old story you have outgrown. Make space with intention, perhaps around the New Moon on 17 April 2026 at 9:52 pm AEST, and then notice what wants to take its place. Imagination and originality can help you rebuild with a lighter touch.

Your Gemini ascendant and Venus rising in the first house give you a curious, engaging way of meeting the world. Let conversation, writing and questions be tools of growth. Try a weekly journal entry that begins with the words, "Today I was brave enough to…" The road ahead is open, Sophie, and each deliberate step toward Capricorn's depth can lead you somewhere wonderfully your own.

EXPRESSION / LEARNING / CONNECTION

The themes to work with

A direction for growth

Sophie, your birthday year opens with your Sun in the fifth house, joined by Mars, Saturn and Neptune, all in Aries. This is the strongest note in your chart. It invites you to bring more play, creativity and heartfelt self-expression into your days. Mars and Neptune sit very close together, which suggests inspiration and action working side by side, while Saturn lends the steadiness to shape a passion into something lasting.

Give your intentions a useful structure

Your natal Sun, Mercury and Moon are gathered in Aries in the eleventh house, with Sun and Mercury almost exactly aligned. This points to a bright, quick and original voice that comes alive among kindred spirits and shared causes. The year invites you to speak up for your ideas and to notice which communities and friendships help them grow. The New Moon on 17 April 2026 at 9:52 pm AEST, just after your birthday, makes a lovely moment to set an intention for them.

Make room for honest connection

Your Solar Return Moon, Mercury and North Node all sit in Pisces in the fourth house. Your natal midheaven is also in Pisces, and the Solar Return Moon falls very close to its degree. Together they suggest a year for listening inwardly, building a home base that feels nourishing, and letting intuition guide what you want your public path to stand for. Quiet time, creative reflection and a gentle rhythm at home may prove as productive as any bold move.

Space to explore

Jupiter, the planet of growth, begins your year in Cancer in the eighth house, a placement that favours depth, trust and honest conversations about what you truly value. From July it moves into Leo, the sign it occupies in your natal chart in the third house. That shift invites you to share what you know with confidence, whether through learning, writing, conversation or short journeys. Your natal Venus in Gemini in the first house adds charm and curiosity to every exchange.

A practice to return to

Your Solar Return Ascendant is Sagittarius, with a Virgo midheaven, and that pairing asks you to blend big-picture optimism with practical, thoughtful steps. Venus and Uranus in Taurus in the sixth house invite fresh, pleasurable approaches to daily routines. Let your adventurous spirit set the direction and your attention to detail carry it forward, and this year can become one of your most vivid and rewarding yet.

YOUR BIRTHDAY-YEAR CHART / SYMBOLIC CHECKPOINTS

Your year in focus

The wider perspective

Sophie, your Solar Return year opens with your Sun at 24 degrees of Aries, exactly where it sat at your birth, and it now lands in your fifth house of creativity, play and self-expression. Mars, Neptune and Saturn join it there in Aries, so this house becomes the busiest corner of your chart. Your Return ascendant is Sagittarius and your midheaven is Virgo, which suggests a year that asks you to pair a wide-open sense of adventure with careful, practical craft. It is an invitation to put your name to something you have made, and to enjoy doing it.

Choose a useful checkpoint

The Moon and Mercury sit in Pisces in your fourth house of home and roots, with the North Node in Pisces alongside them. The North Node at 8 degrees of Pisces sits almost exactly opposite your Return midheaven at 8 degrees of Virgo, which places the year's sense of direction on the axis between your private foundations and your public path. This gives the year a reflective, imaginative undercurrent. Quiet time, a nurtured living space and listening to your intuition may become the foundation that supports your more outward ventures. Mercury at 29 degrees of Pisces sits at the very end of its sign, so ideas may feel as if they are completing one chapter of thinking before a fresh one begins in Aries.

Notice what needs adjusting

Jupiter travels through Cancer in the early months of your year, falling in your eighth house of deep bonds, shared resources and transformation, before moving into Leo from July. Saturn stays in Aries throughout, steadily shaping your fifth house with a call for commitment and structure in whatever you love to create. The lunar phases give you a graceful way into the year: a New Moon on 17 April 2026 at 9:52 pm AEST invites you to set intentions, and the Full Moon on 2 May 2026 at 3:23 am AEST offers a moment to see what is beginning to bloom. Venus in Taurus in your sixth house adds a taste for beauty in daily routines, and it may encourage small rituals that feel good as well as useful.

Your practical compass

Your natal chart gives these themes an echo. Your Sun, Moon and Mercury all sit in Aries, so the courage to begin is already part of who you are. With Gemini rising and Venus in Gemini in your first house, you also carry natural charm and curiosity. This year invites you to bring those gifts together: begin boldly, tend your inner world and let your voice be heard. Step forward with confidence, Sophie, because the year ahead is yours to colour in.

APRIL 2026 - SEPTEMBER 2026

Your monthly reflections

April 2026 — Begin with your people

The New Moon on 17 April falls in Aries, your natal house 11. With your Sun, Moon and Mercury already gathered in Aries in the eleventh house, this opening brings a clear personal theme: friends, communities and the hopes you want to share. Write down one idea worth gathering people around, then invite a first conversation.

May 2026 — Choose a focused effort

On 12 May, Mars reaches your exact natal Sun in Aries. Give your initiative one clear task rather than several competing beginnings. The New Moon on 17 May falls in Taurus, your natal house 12. The twelfth-house setting also makes room for rest and private preparation. Decide what deserves your energy, and what can wait.

June 2026 — Refresh your expression

Uranus meets your natal Venus in Gemini on 5 June, close to your Ascendant. Your tastes, presentation and way of connecting are useful places to experiment. The New Moon on 15 June falls in Gemini, your natal house 1. Try a different creative approach or a conversation you have been postponing; keep what feels like you.

July 2026 — Give your voice a project

Your Jupiter return is exact on 18 July: Jupiter reaches its birth position at 3°55′ Leo, in your third house. Choose a subject, writing project or skill you want to develop over time. The New Moon on 14 July falls in Cancer, your natal house 2. Give the project a practical budget of time and resources.

August 2026 — Share what you are learning

The New Moon on 13 August falls in Leo, your natal house 3. Leo in your third house brings this month's attention back to words, learning and everyday exchange. Build on July's Jupiter-return intention by sharing one piece of work, asking a better question or taking the next lesson. Let a specific audience help you find your clearest voice.

September 2026 — Make a supportive base

The New Moon on 11 September falls in Virgo, your natal house 4. Virgo in your fourth house makes home, belonging and useful everyday arrangements the focus. Choose one corner, routine or domestic agreement to make simpler. A calmer base gives your Aries enthusiasm somewhere to return to; progress this month can be quiet and very practical.

OCTOBER 2026 - MARCH 2027

Your monthly reflections

October 2026 — Create for the pleasure of it

The New Moon on 11 October falls in Libra, your natal house 5. Libra in your fifth house highlights creative play and the pleasure of making something with care. Set aside one session without an audience or a performance target. Then notice what you enjoy enough to return to. The work is to make room, rather than prove anything.

November 2026 — Make growth workable

Jupiter's exact trine to your natal Sun falls on 3 November. Share an idea that has developed since July, and invite useful feedback. The New Moon on 9 November falls in Scorpio, your natal house 6. Scorpio in your sixth house brings the follow-through into everyday work: choose the routine that lets the idea become sustainable.

December 2026 — Give connection your attention

The New Moon on 9 December falls in Sagittarius, your natal house 7. Sagittarius in your seventh house turns attention towards one-to-one connection and a wider conversation. Ask someone close what they need, and say plainly what matters to you. Jupiter also repeats its exact trine to your Moon on 28 December: a thoughtful point to notice the support you give and receive.

January 2027 — Review what you share

The New Moon on 8 January falls in Capricorn, your natal house 8. Capricorn in your eighth house echoes your North Node's sign and house. Choose one shared commitment, resource or agreement to review carefully. Jupiter repeats its trine to your natal Sun on 22 January; revisit an existing idea before adding a new promise.

February 2027 — Follow a deeper question

The New Moon on 7 February falls in Aquarius, your natal house 9. Aquarius in your ninth house shifts this month's attention towards learning, perspective and beliefs. Your natal Saturn is also in Aquarius in this house. Give one serious question time: read beyond your usual sources, take a lesson or test an assumption in a real conversation.

March 2027 — Choose what to carry forward

The New Moon on 8 March falls in Pisces, your natal house 10. Pisces in your tenth house invites attention to the work and direction you want others to see. Make a note of what this birthday year has taught you about your voice, connections and priorities. Your current edition continues until 15 April; choose one thing to complete and one to carry into the next chapter.

EXPRESS YOURSELF IN ARIES / GAIN PERSPECTIVE IN LIBRA

Your personal Moon rhythm

Moon in Aries: your power period

Sophie, your personal Moon calendar begins from your solar return on 14 April 2026, and your natal Moon in Aries in the 11th house gives it a lively starting point. That placement sits close to your Aries Sun and Mercury, so your instincts, identity and thinking all move in the same bold, direct rhythm. Your year opens with a New Moon on 17 April 2026 at 9:52 pm AEST, a natural moment to set an intention about the friendships, communities or hopes that matter to you. The First Quarter follows on 24 April 2026 at 12:32 pm AEST, inviting a first action.

Moon in Libra: reflection and rebalancing

The Full Moon on 2 May 2026 at 3:23 am AEST can be a time to notice what has taken shape, and the Last Quarter on 10 May 2026 at 7:11 am AEST invites you to release what no longer fits. Opposite your Aries Moon lies Libra, and the periods when the Moon moves through Libra can become gentle reflection points. They offer a chance to pause, weigh other perspectives and ask how your enthusiasm might make room for balance and collaboration.

Your personal rhythm

In practice, keep a simple journal beside your calendar. Write one intention at each New Moon, one small step at the First Quarter, what you have noticed at the Full Moon, and what you are ready to release at the Last Quarter. Over the year, you may find a rhythm that suits your spirited nature, and you can carry it forward with curiosity and confidence.

Express yourself in Aries; gain perspective in Libra. Sign-based periods last roughly two to three days. An exact Moon opposition natal Sun is a particular moment within an opposite-sign period. Neither is a weak or unlucky time.

Four Lunar Markers to Begin Your Year

These are the first four phase dates after your Solar Return. Your full-year Moon-sign calendar follows on page 31. New and Full Moons are separate from the Moon opposing your natal Sun.

Your Practices & Reading Notes

Three practices to return to Write down one idea and one small next step each week. Keep a note of conversations and questions that stay with you. Make a quiet space to notice what is helping, what needs adjusting and what you want to carry forward.

Your charts and your birthday-year clock

Your report is created from your real birth chart, then carefully checked for accuracy before it is sent. Birth: 1991-04-15, 09:30, Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. Birthday-year location: Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. The same Solar Return interval, 14 April 2026 – 15 April 2027, is used throughout the astrology, annual Tarot, Personal Year and Moon calendar.

Positions, local times and personal dates

Planetary positions use Astronomy Engine: tropical, geocentric longitudes; Whole Sign houses; True North and South Nodes. Local dates use the location's IANA time zone, including historical daylight saving. Key-date contacts are solved against the recipient's exact natal longitudes. A return or aspect can repeat during retrograde motion; the key-date page shows the first exact contact of each selected type in this edition. Unknown birth times use local noon; Moon and return timing are estimates, and angles and houses are omitted.

Tarot and the element scores

Chart Tarot pairs are selected from each calculated planetary placement and its zodiac decan. The yearly Sun pair repeats the natal Sun pair because the Solar Return Sun returns to its birth longitude. Element scores count Sun and Moon twice, Mercury through Saturn once, and the Ascendant once when known. Uranus, Neptune, Pluto and the nodes are excluded; Earth 0 means zero in this selected-point score, not an absence of Capricorn placements or practical ability. The annual Year Card uses the digits of birth day, birth month and starting birthday year, reduced to 22 or below; Strength is 8, Justice 11 and the Fool 22.

Numerology and references

The Personal Year reduces the same annual digit total to 1–9. Life Path reduces birth month, day and year separately, retaining 11, 22 and 33. Birth-Day numbers remain lifelong. References: github.com/cosinekitty/astronomy; astro.com/astrowiki/en/Lunar_Nodes; Numerology.com; Numerologist.com.
